OUR 2021-2022 REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY

center for grieving children
where families find hope and love

Mission:

providing a safe space, loving peer support, outreach, and education to grieving children, teens, families and the community.

Vision:

offering hope and supporting the resilience of children, teens, and families in Maine through a no-cost peer support family model. Services are led by dedicated and highly trained staff and volunteers on-site or virtually using the Center's facilities thanks to the generous support of our community.

A letter from Anne

Reflections on this past year

Dear Friends,

Another year has flown by at the Center for Grieving Children. It's almost unbelievable to think that nearly 2 ½ years have passed since our Bereavement and Tender Living Care (TLC) peer support groups moved to a virtual setting to protect our families during these unprecedented times. I continue to be astounded by the incredible creativity and adaptability our volunteer Facilitators have shown to create safe and welcoming spaces for families in these groups. Our Intercultural Program Facilitators continue to amaze me as well. So as not to contribute to the transportation shortage many schools faced this year, the program was held at each school instead of at the Center. I am also proud of our staff, trainers and consultants, board members, and donors who have once again enabled the Center to continue providing these safe spaces for grieving children and families.

Center services continue to be critical. Today, more of Maine's children are expected to experience the death of a parent or sibling by 18, now 8.4%, up from 7.5% in 2021.¹ While these estimates highlight the pandemic's early impact on our children, we are only beginning to understand its long-term effects. Despite life returning to somewhat "normal" for many, the pandemic's social isolation created a ripple effect on grief. Many who experienced the death or illness of a close family member in these past few years were unable to gather in-person with friends and family, therefore preventing life's version of the peer support model that we at the Center hold invaluable to healing.

Families are hurting. In Maine, during the first five months of 2022, the average number of people overdosing has been 792 per month, higher than 2021's already staggering monthly average of 658.² Calls to the Center from adults seeking support on how to talk to their child(ren) about the loss or illness of a loved one have increased in recent years from 20 to 30 minutes long. These realities assure us that the Center's work cannot stop. Our children are increasingly living these Adverse Childhood Experiences which can lead to negative consequences in how children function at school, work, and in their personal and professional relationships during childhood and into adulthood. As adults, ACEs are linked to chronic health problems, mental illness, and substance use problems. They can negatively impact education, job opportunities and earning potential. The Center strives to combat such impacts by increasing resiliency in children experiencing grief by reducing isolation, promoting hopefulness, and increasing family support through peer support, outreach and education.

Looking towards the year ahead, I am optimistic that we will continue making inroads in helping children on their grief journey. The Center continues to be the only organization of its kind in Maine providing TLC and Bereavement peer support programming in a year-round family model because the better parents cope, the better off children are. We look forward to returning to in-person peer support groups in Portland and Sanford, and expect to keep one night of Bereavement services virtual. This will not only increase the Center's ability to serve bereaved children and families who live in more remote parts of Maine, but this option will bring down barriers for southern Maine residents who, for a variety of reasons, may prefer virtual groups over in-person. To support this hybrid approach to services, however, the need for volunteer Facilitators is higher than ever before.

It is my hope that you will continue supporting Center programming in the many ways possible so families can continue accessing support at no cost, for as long as needed, regardless of a family's income level or insurance coverage. No child should grieve alone, and your support helps ensure we can stay true to that goal.

With Gratitude,
Anne Heros, Executive Director

Bereavement Program

Providing grief support in our Portland and Sanford locations, and virtually for children, teens, their parents, families, young adults and bereaved parents and widows/widowers/ partners. Thanks to virtual delivery of our Bereavement peer support services, we've welcomed families into groups typically unable to attend on-site services, perhaps because they live in rural Maine or experience other barriers, such as transportation issues or time to commute. This has shaped the Center's priority to make the Bereavement program hybrid, offering service nights in Portland and Sanford, as well as online.

Welcome B!

This past year, we welcomed B. Hailey onto our team who will coordinate additional night of online service starting with Young Widow/Widower/ Partners and Young Adult groups. B. holds a master's in social work with a certificate in Trauma-Informed Care and has been a welcome member to our compassionate and well-trained program team!

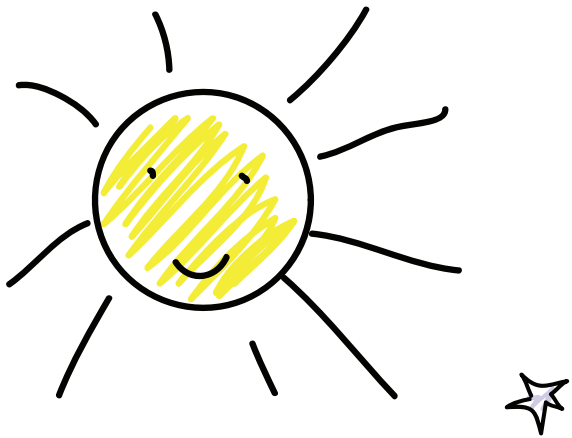

Welcome Danielle!

Danielle is responsible for providing outreach, family and community support, and leading the bereavement night of service in York County. Danielle began her work with the Center as a group facilitator in 2012 and was most recently a Team Coordinator since 2018 until joining Center staff this past year as a Bereavement Services Coordinator. Danielle holds a bachelor's degree in Social Work from the University of Southern Maine and we are so thrilled to welcome her into the Center family!

THE HEART OF OUR MISSION

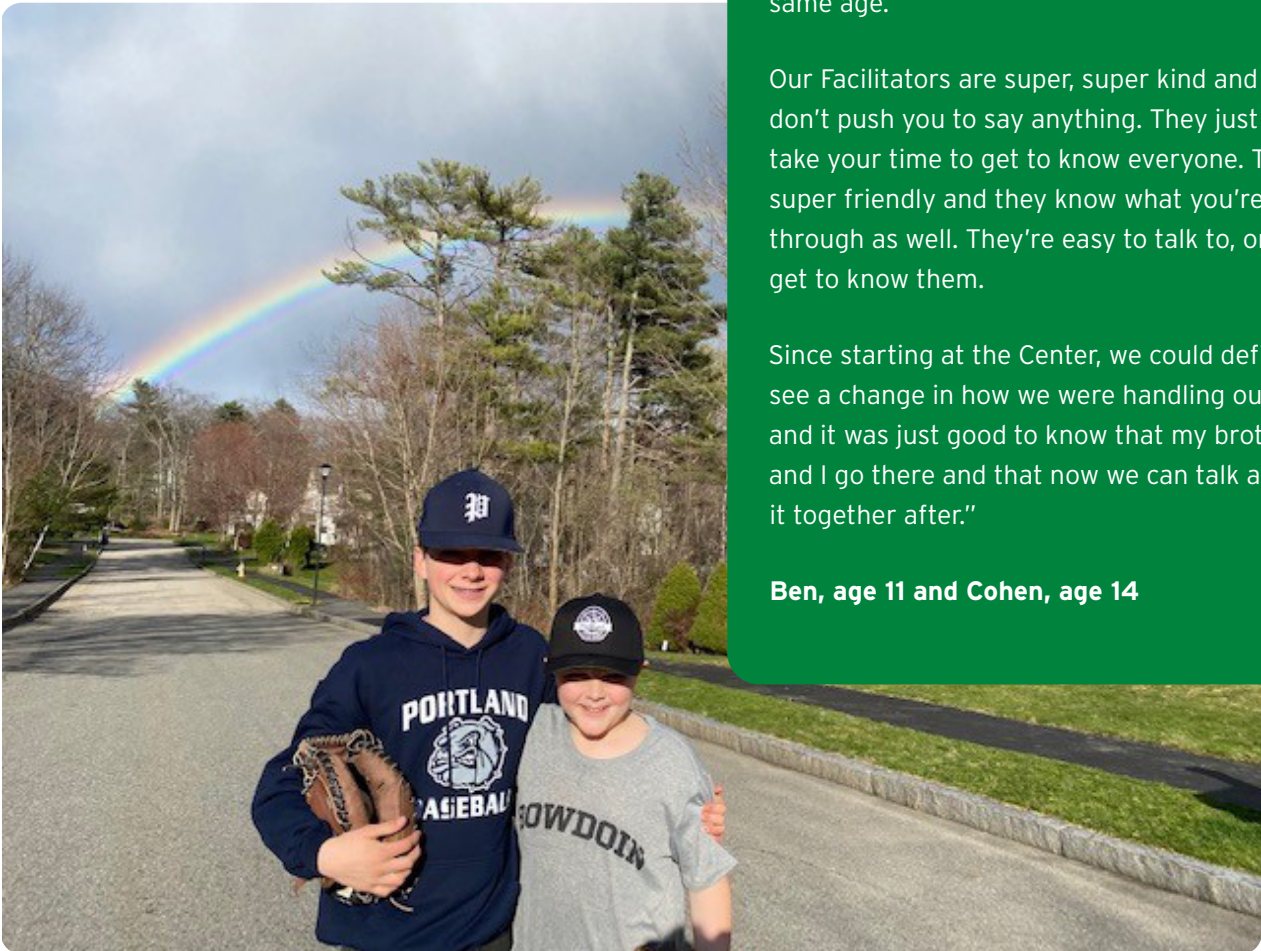

“We came to the Center last year after our grandfather died. The Center has been really helpful. Just to be able to talk about it and have people there to help you with it. And the people are there because they can relate to what you're going through. At first, we weren't sure how it would be. But we started going and it just helped us and made us feel better. We were very shy but as we got used to our groups, it felt like a home. Everyone was so kind and inviting. It's great to have kids there who can relate to you and are the same age.

Our Facilitators are super, super kind and they don't push you to say anything. They just let you take your time to get to know everyone. They're super friendly and they know what you're going through as well. They're easy to talk to, once you get to know them.

Since starting at the Center, we could definitely see a change in how we were handling our loss, and it was just good to know that my brother and I go there and that now we can talk about it together after.”

Tender Living Care Program

Helping children, teens, young adults, parents, and caregivers with the changes that come with a family member’s diagnosis of serious illness. Support is available from point of diagnosis and at every step along their journey with the illness.

“When I was diagnosed with my condition and found out I needed major life-saving surgery, I reached out to a lot of people who may have been able to help my son through this challenge. The one that stuck long-term was the TLC program at the Center for Grieving Children. It warmed my heart to learn how much they really, truly care.

The TLC program has given me the opportunity to have unique accountability partners: when I know I am going to report my progress, I am likely to aim for the very best. The program is filled with folks who understand many aspects of recovering from a major surgery, while parenting. The kind people who help with the groups are phenomenal as well. They provide a caring environment, each and every time. My son Mica and I have benefited greatly from the comradery of the groups, and always look forward to our next meeting, no matter where we are or what we’re doing.

Nick Victor

Nick and his son, Mica (age 3), have attended TLC groups since November, 2021

FOR FAMILIES FACING LIFE-IMPACTING ILLNESS - - - - -

Spotlight on the TLC Team Coordinators!

“I have been part of the TLC program for 14 years. As a young mother, my family was impacted by illness and our support was limited. Recognizing the challenges of that time, it’s important that I offer to families what was not available to mine.

The role of TC is expansive. It requires, among other things, the ability to listen to and hold the feelings of many different people, as well as to support and guide facilitators in their work. The partnership forged with our staff person and my fellow TC is imperative. It’s a bond built on kindness and trust. Without this it would be impossible to sustain my work in TLC.

If I could share one bit of wisdom, it would be to recognize that you are not alone in your role, but rather part of a community that joins together for the purpose of helping others. And in the words of the ancient poet, Rumi: “The inspiration you seek is within you. Be silent and listen.”

Patricia Stone

Jamie Schwellenbach TLC Program Coordinator

“Pat and Sheryl are truly remarkable TCs, I could not dream of a better partnership for our Tender Living Care community! They each bring so much authenticity, compassion, empathy, and love to this challenging work, and it is an inspiration to work together with them to hold and support our TLC facilitators, families, and program.”

“In September, it will be 23 years that I have been a part of the TLC program. I had a very negative grief experience as a young woman when my mother died, and by the time I reached my 50s, I had learned how valuable a place like the Center would have been for me.

I was a Facilitator in the Caregivers’ group for most of my time at the Center and have been a TC for a little over two years. I am enjoying my experience as a TC because it offers me a broader scope of experience and a different view of the important work that we do. I also love working with the TLC Coordinator, Jamie and my co-TC Pat. We have formed a wonderful and supportive bond that is so grounding to me personally and in the work we do with our families.

I have stayed at the Center all of these years because I know that I am honoring my mom and I love being a part of what we offer to people who need us. This experience can be very challenging at times when being a part of another’s grief can seem overwhelming. If I could offer a bit of wisdom to new facilitators, it would be to trust in your special group of facilitators, use pre-group and post-group to process your feelings, and know that what you offer to families is invaluable. It is a gift from your heart that is returned many times over.”

Sheryl Plummer

Intercultural Program

Creating healing communities, the Center’s Intercultural Program is for children and teens resettled in Maine from countries that have experienced war, violent conflict, and natural disaster, in collaboration with Portland Public schools. At 25 years old, this program is the oldest of its kind in the U.S.

Our Intercultural Programming was an amazing success with the program taking place at three Portland Public middle schools, including Lyman Moore, Lincoln, and King.

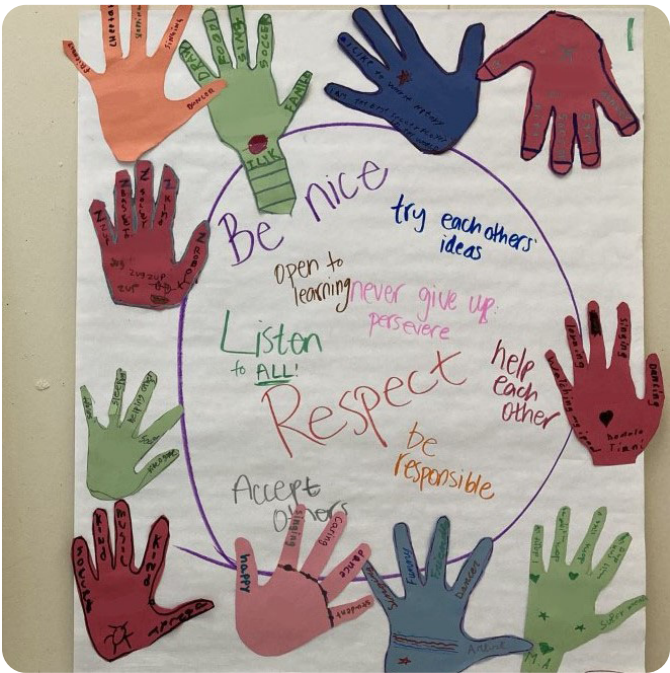

“The Center for Grieving Children’s Intercultural Program provided a fantastic weekly program for our English language learners who had to move away from their culture of origin within the last couple of years. The facilitators from the Center were knowledgeable, flexible, and patient. They implemented a variety of activities to meet students’ individual needs. We learned to build a positive and safe community through lively and fun activities. Also, quiet art activities helped us recognize our inner selves and enjoy the tranquility. It was fascinating to witness that the facilitators brought hidden strengths and creativity out of students. I am thankful to have had an opportunity to work with such wonderful people who helped me grow as a teacher.”

Satomi Beaumier
ELL teacher at Lincoln Middle School

LOVE IS IN OUR HEARTS

Participants in the program created many projects, including mandalas, Circles of Respect and Community Threads, all pictured here. Through these activities, students shared with each other what makes them feel safe in their community. As we journeyed through this school year, children added to the Community Thread as a symbol of building community.

Outreach to the community

Providing services, training, and resources for individuals, school groups, and non-profits and businesses to help support grieving children and teens in the places where they live, learn, and play.

Individual support

Program staff responded individually to phone and email questions and concerns about how to support loved ones through grief and loss, and provided referrals to other resources and support as needed.

Outreach & education

“Thank you so much for sharing your time and expertise with our students last night! The students and I truly appreciated your energy, candor and ability to discuss such a difficult topic in an open and gentle manner. We address so many difficult topics in this class, and I am endeavoring to link grief with all of them. So, your presentation was also very helpful in clarifying this connection for our students.”

Feedback from a university class outreach event

“Thank you again for your time, wisdom, presence, and expertise with our staff last week. What was especially resonating with our principal and myself was the notion that we can always go back, revisit the process, and do what is best for both the collective whole and individuals. Thank you again for facilitating a lovely session with those who felt able to engage at the moment. ”

Feedback from our Viewers

“This has been very helpful. I found myself wishing I was back in the classroom to try some of these new activities immediately. As a retired teacher, this has me looking forward to volunteering with the Center”

“This was a wonderful presentation. So good to see how the activities can be adapted to zoom. Thank you very much.”

National Alliance for Children's Grief Symposium

Volunteers

Volunteers are the heart of the Center. Whether serving as peer facilitators (in a virtual environment this year!), helping with administrative tasks, providing event support, or even tending to our garden, our programs would not be possible without them!

Hats off to ALL of our incredible Facilitators who adapted in resilient and inspiring ways to continue carrying the compassion, creativity and solace of Center groups even virtually.

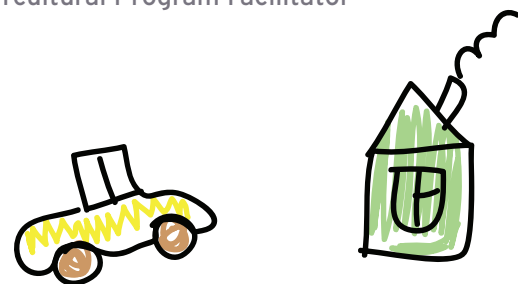

"I started volunteering at the Center in the fall of 2019, helping out with administrative projects and finished my facilitator training in February 2020. I have been facilitating the past year in the middles group and continue to help administratively with mailings. Joining the Center has been one of the best and most rewarding decisions I have ever made. Seeing the kids connect and navigate their grief process with the support of each other and the Center has been so fulfilling and healing for me in so many ways. I know that the work we all do at the Center is making an impact on these kids, and I am grateful daily to be a part of such a wonderful community of love and support."

Eva Kecskemethy, Office Volunteer & Portland Bereavement Facilitator

"Working as an intern facilitator for the Intercultural Program this past year, I felt supported and encouraged by Center staff to bring into the mix my previous experience as an art teacher. Over the course of the year, we built a safe and trusting community together, as both students and facilitators got to know each other. Having that time to unfold and grow as a community was so profound. The project I was able to contribute, creating colorful mandalas from our names, turned into a touching symbol of how each person brings their own unique self to form an even more beautiful whole."

Rebecca Leyton, Intercultural Program Facilitator

THE HEART OF THE CENTER

"The Center is truly a place of support and love, where families feel safe sharing their grief, challenges, and personal stories. It is so rewarding to see families interact with each other and share their common experiences, letting their tears flow, and even laughing. The Center provides an invaluable service to grieving families, and I am proud to be involved in this program."

Mary Villano, Sanford Bereavement Facilitator

"I have been volunteering at the Center in the TLC program for a little over five years now. Because of my own personal challenges with grief, loss, and illness, I was drawn to be a part of the Center's incredible work of acknowledging, supporting, and honoring families who are facing profound difficulties. The families I have had the privilege to work with are the main reason I continue to volunteer. The Center would not be what it is without the love these families bring to each night! I feel deeply grateful to have found this program when I first moved to Maine in 2017—it has been such an honor to be a part of such a wonderful, supportive community."

Maeve Shea, TLC Program Facilitator

"I have found Center staff, volunteers, and the Board, to be a diverse concentration of the most loving and highly talented workers I would want to have come around my family if they were to survive me. And I love doing life with a community that knows how to roll up its sleeves and meet families during their most vulnerable seasons."

River Winds Reception
River Winds Farm & Estate, Saco, ME
October 14th, 2021
We were thrilled to join with close friends and supporters last October at the beautiful River Winds Farm & Estate, as we celebrated the Center's impact and support for grieving children and families throughout Maine with an evening of community. With live music by Kris Rodgers and the Dirty Gems, a silent auction of fun, local prizes, and delicious treats from Blue Elephant Catering against the beautiful fall landscape at River Winds - it was the perfect evening to reconnect with Center friends.
Our thanks to all who attended, and to our friends at Pepperell Mill Campus and Saco & Biddeford Savings Bank for matching donations that night!

WCYY Markathon: WCYY Studio, Portland, Maine
December 6th - 11th, 2021

This December, we were so grateful for Mark Curdo, former radio host at WCYY and General Manager of Aura, and our friends at WCYY for dedicating yet another fantastic week on the radio toward raising funds for the Center. Mark practically lived in the studio all week, going so far as to add an EXTRA day of Markathon this year, as he spun sensational song requests, shared on-air Center stories and interviews, and held an online auction filled with local goodies and music memorabilia, all to inspire generous donations from sponsors and our community.

Though we missed being in-person with Mark this year, we were thrilled to be able to gather Center staff and board members, along with Mark and the WCYY radio station team over zoom to ring out the week together and celebrate over the funding raised in support of Center families!

Virtual LOVE Gala: Held Online!
February 4th, 2022

What an amazing night! We were so unbelievably touched by the incredible outpouring of support from our community at this year's Virtual LOVE Gala!

Thank you so much to everyone who watched from home, supported a child, bid on an item, and sent along your well wishes in the chat. It was an honor to celebrate with you all, and together we made an incredible difference for our Center families.

This year's event was hosted by the amazing Erin Ovalle of MaineLife Media and former Center board member from our AV Sponsor Headlight's beautiful new Portland studio. The night featured a welcome video from our 2021-2022 Board President, Mark Pettingill, a photo montage with beautiful music by Joel Thetford, and an incredible mission video created by Center board member Diana Nelson and husband Jason Nelson at BlackFly Media. Our thanks as well to Corporate Luminary, SHP Management for spearheading an INCREDIBLE Sponsor a Child Match, along with generous contributions from Risbara Bros Construction, CVS Foundations, and Hays Companies!

“The Center provides amazing support and resources for families going through some of the hardest times imaginable, many of which could never be planned for. As someone who has gone from being a group participant, to a group facilitator, and now a member of the development committee - I’m consistently blown away by the impact the Center has on families and the incredible people who make the Center happen”

“This really is an amazing organization that helps so many children in need of support.

I cannot think of a better way to put your donation money to work and feel great about the cause and the trust in the non-profit to use that money in the best way possible. This is just an exceptional organization!
